Lunch is on us!

Let us organize a lunch-n-learn seminar for your employees

We bring lunch to your office and spend 15 minutes discussing some very important personal lines issues. Issues include safer cars, ways to help avoid identity theft, important endorsements for your home and auto policies, the importance of taking a home inventory and more.

"Good, clear concise and directly to the point! Not a waste of time at all... Very informative, not too long and no pressure."

- Dawn Hagenow, Janssen & Co., SC

"R&R brought in a very nice lunch. Their presentation was very informative and not at all high pressure. Several people worked with R&R and made some very positive improvements to their plans."

- Pat Marble, Frabill, Inc.

"The personal interaction with an agent was a big plus. The agent was very proactive. She evaluated my current policy and gave suggestions that made sense. After hearing our employee's comments, I felt really great about giving our employees a chance to learn more about personal insurance, especially on company time. It shows that we care about them not only as employees but as a part of the family."

- Dorene Radomski, Wisconsin Paper

"Your presentation was very informative. You really know the company well, inside and out. And what you didn't know you were more than willing to research and get back to us."

- Tracy Griswold, Century Fence Company

"R&R insurance has been invaluable in managing both my personal and professional insurance needs. My agent not only makes recommendations to save money on combined coverage, but makes sure that I get the best bargain for my policies. I consider R&R to be one of my business partners that has assisted our success."

- Barbara Bartlein, Great Lakes Consulting Grp.
